The Governor's Message.

From the Raleigh Daily Carolinian.

We lay before our readers this morning the annual message of Governor Caldwell.

It is one of the longest State papers of the kind we have ever had, and is well written and comprehensive. The message is evidently the inspiration of an earnest nature, and the production of a gentleman who believes, thoroughly, what he says.

We shall review it carefully, and state frankly our opinion of its merits and do-merits.

With the sentiment that it is time to hurry out of sight the issues that divided us in war, charitably cover up the differences that may have obtained among us at a time of great national excitement, to "cultivate mutual forbearance and respect," and go earnestly to work in the social and material interests of a whole people, thereby giving to the dear old commonwealth that proud eminence justly her own, every liberal minded man in the State must agree, and we are glad the Governor has set such a praiseworthy example before the intemperance of all parties, and especially do we hope for a universal imitation on the part of the masses of that party of which Mr. Caldwell is the recognized head and leader in the State.

That portion of the message relating to "debt and finances" was prepared in accordance with the suggestions of the most distinguished public financier of the State, a gentleman whose integrity and ability entitled his opinions to great weight in North Carolina, and whose counsel and suggestions have aided and influenced the financial management of every administration in this State since the war. We therefore doubt the message sound on the "debt and finances."

On the "condition of society" the Governor has not been able to entirely obscure his partisan inclinations, but all that is expressed therein every law-abiding man of the State will heartily endorse, and his appeal to the members of the Legislature, to divest themselves of all party prejudices, to be guided by every gentleman addressed, and is equally worthy of imitation by the Executive himself.

On the subject of education the recommendations will strike the reader as appropriate and proper, and we trust the Legislature may be able to perfect a system of education to meet the wants of the situation the Governor has so well stated.

But he will find very few gentlemen to agree with him as to the effort made to lift the University from its forlorn condition.
Party politics in the very worst form ever known to this country were allowed to enter its halls, and parents permitted their sons to remain outside. The University is almost in a helpless condition. The questions involved here are about as difficult as those regarding the debt and finances of the State.

We agree with the Governor that the ballot box is one of the strongest bulwarks of public liberty, and for that reason it should be jealously guarded, that free elections may be had, and power given only to such as are faithful custodians of government, and to this end it is of the first importance that we properly guard the ballot box, and the freedom of elections as of the most sacred legacies bequeathed by a noble ancestry of freemen.

The privileges of suffrage should not be unduly restricted, but there can be no freedom of elections without due regard to the manner and means of exercising those privileges, and the Legislature should be careful how it frames its election laws, but also to make any radical changes or innovations where custom or experience have demonstrated the wisdom of an established system.

We are of the opinion that the regulation compelling a voter to keep within his township is a good one, but we agree with the Governor that a plurality of boxes should be dispensed with. We see no good purpose the system serves, and it is open to many serious objections.

The punishments recommended for illegal voting are not too severe, and ought to be adopted.

We pass the recommendations on Constitutional Amendments, as that matter is already before the Legislature in proper shape, and will come up for full discussion before the people in the next campaign.

We fully agree in the proposition to sell the swamp lands, and the matter needs no further argument than is presented by the Governor.

We approve all that is said in reference to the Geological survey.

The subjects of immigration and agriculture demand the most earnest and attentive consideration that can be bestowed upon them, and we shall make this portion of the message a subject of future articles looking to some proper and intelligent action in their direction.

That portion of the message touching upon the Insane Asylum, Penitentiary, Militia, Insurance, &c., to the conclusion, may be passed as not demanding criticism.
The various reports submitted to the Legislature speak more fully upon these subjects than are treated of in the message or that we can notice here.

The charge of omission is the most serious we shall bring against the message, and upon what is not said will rest the heaviest weight of our condemnation.

We had looked with earnest hope and expectation to something from the Executive relative to, and in condemnation of the action of the Federal authorities, and the conduct of the United States Courts in this State.

Uniting with the Governor in the desire and effort to put down lawlessness and suppress domestic violence, we had hoped to have him with us in deprecating the usurpation of the Federal authorities in our domain, and thus promote, guard and perpetuate that civil liberty, freedom of person, and trial by jury so dear to the American citizen, and for which he has manifested so much concern in his remarks under the head of suffrage. It is idle for Government Caldwell to talk about the freedom and privileges of elections, or rest his hope of personal liberty behind bulwarks constituted by the ballot box, if the authorities of a higher law are to invade the State and strike down the liberty of its citizens upon the shallow pretext that the local civil authorities of a State are inadequate to the suppression of local disorder and the appropriate punishment of the violators of our statutory law, and the domestic disturbances of the peace and good of the community.

It is idle for the Governor of North Carolina to talk about civil liberty and human rights when any citizen of the State may be arrested on the most frivolous pretext, and at the instance of the lowest and vilest of our population, transported hundreds of miles to be incarcerated in loathsome dungeons, and there tried by a strange jury who are in no sense of the word his peers.

And when we united with the Governor in denunciation of the Ku-Klux outrages in our section, and by every effort of our pen, and with all the influence we wield in the Democratic party, essayed to put an end to this species of crime against the rights of the citizen and the dignity of the State, we looked for the aid and support of the Executive arm in defence of the rights and liberties of the whole people of North Carolina.

A NICE LITTLE STORY.—As pleasant a story as was ever told is this regarding an Albany physician, by a correspondent of the Port Jefferson Independent Press, writing from New Haven: An aged widow in Massachusetts received a telegram that her only son was dying at Lawrence, Kansas.

Notwithstanding her extreme age and feeble health she must see her son. She delayed the journey. The train was underway. A young physician assisted her to a hotel, and provided everything he could for her comfort. Her detention by sickness and moderate means would not have allowed her to pursue her journey, but for the kindness of the attending stranger.
He paid her bills, assisting her to Buffalo.

As parting she requested his address.
Two months later this stranger was seated in his office at Albany. A stranger entered, and, after some conversation, presented the doctor with a government bond of $500, as a reward for his kindness to that old lady, saying: "She was my mother. She died a few days after reaching me, and I recovered. Had it not been for your kindness she would have died on the road.
I am her son, who was sick. I am a banker; but money can never repay the debt I owe to you for your generous kindness to my dear, good mother. God bless you!" May God bless and the world applaud such noble acts of benevolence as Dr.
D. T. Crothers, of Albany, bestowed on this occasion, and which the old lady's son so richly rewarded.

REDUCED FREIGHTS ON THE N. C.

CENTRAL.—Before the new tariff went into effect on the North Carolina Railroad, first class freight from this city to Charlotte bore a tariff of one dollar and six cents a hundred. Now under the new tariff it is only twenty-two cents on the hundred pounds from here to Charlotte.

Second class freight under the old tariff bore seventy cents. Now under the new management it is only fifty-five cents.

Fourth class freight under the old tariff bore fifty-two cents a hundred pounds.
Now under the new it is only forty-two.

And fifth class freight under the new management is only twenty-one cents a hundred pounds.

This is a considerable improvement.
Raleigh Carolinian.

FREE LOVE AND WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

Mrs. Victoria Woodhull, supported by Theodore Tilton, delivered a lecture in New York Monday night on the principles of social freedom, love, marriage and divorce, in which she said many startling things which were alternately applauded and hissed by her promiscuous audience.

A disturbance which arose got up all her dander, and, coming forward with a rush, she exclaimed: "Yes, I am a free lover!"
"I believe I have an inalienable right to change my husband every day if I like."

That is all that the worst class of females claim. Such is the spirit which animates the Woman's Rights and the Free Lovers.
A pretty set, truly.—Rich. Whig.

TORTURED TO DEATH.

Horrible Scenes in the South Carolina Penitentiary.

From the New York Star.

The death of Jefferson Brown, in the penitentiary of the State of South Carolina, will form one of the most terrible chapters in the history of modern crime. The horrible manner in which he was tortured to death is sufficient evidence that the boasted civilization of the nineteenth century has not yet rid itself of the barbarous practices of the dark ages. Certainly no act of modern times will surpass in cruelty that which resulted a few days since in the death of a former resident of New York City. The following are some of the facts, which were elicited at the inquest, although the authorities have shown great reluctance in permitting them to be published.

If all the tortures of the damned were double distilled and rectified and then concentrated upon the hideous monsters, who thus cruelly and inhumanly murdered this poor wretch, they would be inadequate to satisfy the demands of justice:

Jefferson Brown, a young man eighteen years of age, left this city shortly after the close of the war to go to Richmond, where he expected to work at his trade as a carpenter. Being unable to secure employment at Richmond, he moved to Spartans-burg, S. C. Here, for a time, he succeeded in earning enough to support him; but business began to grow dull, work failed, and at length he found himself utterly destitute either of the means to return North, or the ability to support himself where he was. As he stated on his trial, he was driven by necessity to lawlessness and was captured in the first attempt at petty thieving. He was tried at the county seat, and sentenced to five years at hard labor in the State penitentiary at Columbia, South Carolina, a prison which has a national reputation for its fitness and the brutality of its keepers.

For nearly two years Brown worked at his trade within the wall of the penitentiary, quietly and faithfully performing the work that was given him, hoping by good conduct to shorten his term of imprisonment. One day about a month ago however, he ventured to remonstrate with the warden for furnishing him with mouldy bread, and meat so putrid that it could not be eaten. The warden replied that it was "a d—d sight too good for such a bound" and ordered two of the keepers to place Brown in "the black hole," a cell twenty feet under ground and shut off from either light, or air, remarking that he (Brown) would be hungry enough before he got any more food to complain about. After remaining in the dungeon nearly ten days without food or water he was taken out and ordered to return to his work. He had been so weakened, however by hunger and the foul air of the loathsome cell, that he found himself unable to perform his usual task.

The warden accused him of laziness and threatened to have him punished again.
Brown replied that he was doing as much as he could, and said he believed the warden wanted to murder him. For this offence the warden ordered the captain of the prison guard to place Brown in the shower bath, and "give him as much as he could stand." The "shower bath" is one of the most terrible devices that cruelty ever invented. Its construction is very simple.
A square box, a little higher than a man's head, and just broad enough for him to stand in, surmounted by a reservoir containing water, form the principal features of this instrument of torture. The upper lid of the box is perforated with auger holes, which may be opened or closed at will by means of a string which hangs upon the outside of the box. The prisoner is gagged before being placed in the shower bath, his hands and feet are strapped to the sides of the box, and his chin is then placed upon a bar of wood which is put at such a height as to just permit the toes to touch the floor; thus the weight rests mainly on the face turned up to receive the descending torrent of ice cold water. There is no opportunity for resistance—strapped fast and gagged, the victim can neither struggle or cry out against the terrible torture which is meted out at the discretion of the brutal keeper.

Into an instrument of this sort Brown was placed, in spite of his entreaties to be allowed to wait until he had recovered from the effects of his previous punishment. Notwithstanding his frantic struggles, he was finally gagged and secured by the straps in the manner above described. The keeper then drew the string, permitting the water, which was almost as cold as ice, to fall upon the upturned face of the dying prisoner.

To heighten the torture and prolong the victim's sufferings, the water was allowed at first to strike slowly down, but with gradually increasing force, until it poured over him in a perfect torrent. In this manner eight or ten buckets of water were poured into the prisoner's face when the bar under his chin, which had been placed at such a height as to raise him completely off his feet, broke, and he fell as far as the straps, with which his hands were fastened, would permit him. The scene which ensued was so revolting that the description of it would be incredible, if the testimony on which the story is based were not incontestable. Taking the limp and lifeless body in their arms, they endeavored to stand it up in the box again. But all their efforts proved fruitless. The captain of the guard then placed a rope around the man's neck and passing it through one of the auger holes drew the body up while the others fastened it in an upright position. The same performances was then gone through with again, fully a dozen buckets of water being allowed to flow in the box. When this had been completed, it was found that Brown was dead.

For more than a quarter of an hour they had been torturing a corpse.

From the Daily Carolinian, Murder in Wilkes County.
A man kills his half brother and then kills Himself.

We learn from Dr. Cook, the Senator from Wilkes county, that a most shocking murder occurred in his section on last Monday, two weeks ago. A number of neighbors had met for a

BIG FOX HUNT.

and after the hunt, they all stopped at a liquor stand to take a drink. Here Mr.
Constant Gray and William Mathias, (his half brother,) got into an affray. Gray cut Mathias' throat, and he died almost immediately. Gray escaped arrest and remained out in the woods for two or three days, when he sent for some three or four of his friends to come to see him, that he wanted to talk with them.

THE INTERVIEW.

His friends complied with his request and went out to see what he wanted. When they got within fifty yards of him he halted them and told them not to come any nearer. He then informed them that he wanted to make his will and cited to them everything he wanted to dispose of and then he

CUT HIS THROAT

with his knife from ear to ear. And so a fraud was that he had not made sure work that he ran his finger in the gash and drew out the jugular vein and completely severed it with his knife.

Gray and Mathias were the best of friends and the whole affair is attributed to liquor. Gray was a man about fifty years of age and possessed of comfortable property. He leaves a wife and six children, four of them sons and all nearly grown, save one.

Sentenced to be Hung.

Martha Mathews, charged and convicted at the present term of this Court of the murder of her child, was sentenced on last Friday morning by Judge Cannon to be hung in the public square on Friday the 19th day of January next. The facts of the case, as developed on the trial, and confessions of the prisoner before the Coroner's inquest, are about as follows: Some time in the early part of May the body of a dead male child was found buried near the house where the prisoner lived. After the body was found, a negro woman went to the house of Martha Mathews and found her crying and told her she was sorry for her, Martha replied that Green Young told her if she did not kill the child he would kill her.

After the inquest, Martha told the foreman of the jury that she went into the woods to give birth to her child, and after it was born she held it in her arms for nearly half an hour and cried over it, and then took a stick and hit it over the head and killed it, and buried it in the leaves where it was found.

The prosecution was conducted on the part of the State by Solicitor Joyce, assisted by Thos. Farnell Esq., Mr. Farnell is a young lawyer who has just come to the bar at this place, and his speech in this case is his first before a Foythe jury. He was pointed and argumentative in his remarks, and followed up the testimony and laid down the law like an old stager.

The defence was ably conducted by C.
B. Watson, and Joseph Morehead, who fought manfully for their client, and the Judge remarked, did everything that it was possible for them to do in her defence. The whole case turned upon the admissibility of the prisoner's own confessions to be used as evidence against her. The Judge ruled that her confessions should be taken as evidence, and upon this an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court. The defence in this case and the speeches made by Watson and Morehead stamp them as young lawyers of decided abilities who are bound to make their mark at the bar.—Wes. Sentinel.

A disease has existed for some time past in certain portions of Northampton county and elsewhere, says the Weldon News, which is terrible in its character and often fatal in its results. It has been known in these sections before to a limited extent, but not until this fall has it been general in its character. The symptoms are exactly similar to those of yellow fever, and the patient suffers almost as much as with the latter disease. There have been some thirty cases in Northampton recently, some of them fatal, but the physicians have learned to treat the disease, and thus stop the fatality. It is not thought to be epidemic, but to result from severe malarial causes.

Ninety workmen employed in Granville, Mass., make about 900 drums daily, which are sent to all parts of the United States.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 29, 1871.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

"EVEN WITH EVANS."—Rail. Sentinel.

"Steady! steady there—and 'put the saddle on the right horse.'" "Evans" had as little to do with that tremendous mare's nest yclept "Remarkable Coincidence," as the man in the moon had. This is not the first time "Evans" has been wrongfully charged and passed off by unbounded as the idle wind. If the State has been wronged in "remarkable coincidence," let the Legislature investigate the matter and pass an act declaring that the man who "steals" the "literary wares" of the Sentinel, ought to be "pilloried." How would that do for him?

Mr. H. H. H. Editor of the Daily Carolinian, says a man can't live temporarily in Raleigh decently and present the appearance of a gentleman, for less than $5 a day! We would like to know how many "smiles" this estimate embraces?

Question—Ought a man who can't eat corn-bread and live on less than five dollars a day to be sent to the Legislature?—They sell pork in Raleigh at five dollars a hundred and potatoes at 40 cents a bushel. Here, in Hillsborough, the wagons ask 50 cents a bushel for potatoes, the stores 75 cents, and pork six dollars per hundred. It seems to us that a moderately behaved "feller" ought to live cheaper in Raleigh than here—provided he can eat corn-bread—as no one here fancies it but the printer, and he ties it to him from necessity.

Norfolk wants eggs.—Daily Carolinian. "She does!" Send her a few of those found in that "Mare's Nest" of "remarkable coincidence."

A Good Appointment. James B. McDade, Esq., one of the Magistrates of this township, having resigned, the Board of Trustees appointed Mr. John U. Kirkland to fill the vacancy. This is an admirable selection and gives universal satisfaction.

Mass. Eagle Lodge, No. 71, Hillsboro, will meet Friday night Dec 1st, to elect officers. Brethren take due notice thereof and govern yourselves accordingly.

Canned Fruit. Rev. Thos. J. Gattis, of this town has presented us with specimens of canned Peaches and Tomatoes. They are splendid. He informs us that he raised 100 bushels of Tomatoes on a half acre, and put up 20000 cans of Peaches. Persons wanting a good article of these fruits are advised to call on him.

Rev. John B. McFerrin, D. D. of Nashville, Tenn., preached in the Methodist Church of Goldsboro last Sunday.

Cauliflower. The first cauliflower we remember ever to have seen, was shown us yesterday by Thos. Webb Esq., of this town. It was the product of his garden.

PECAN FRUIT. It has been fully demonstrated that the Pecan can be raised in this country equal to the Apple. Thomas Webb Esq., of this town has Pecan trees that bore finely this year, and so too has Mr. Copeland Riley, in this vicinity. George W. Johnston, Esq., of Milton, has several Pecan trees that yield fruit annually. They also make a pretty shade tree.

The weather to-day (Monday) is spring-like and delightful. Being almost surrounded by evergreens as we are and high old trees whose limbs are stripped of their foliage but entirely covered with ivy, gives to everything a beautiful appearance and we almost forget that we are in the midst of old winter, for "The ivy green is a rare old plant," and gives the scenes a sylvan look.

Deputy Marshal. Mr. Geo. Harden, an ex-rail road depot Agent, of this town, has been appointed Deputy U. S. Marshal.

"Molly put the 'kittle' on!"

MARRIED.

On Wednesday night last, 23rd inst, the Presbyterian Church of this place having been decorated with beautiful bouquets of rare and fragrant flowers made by some of the fair daughters of Hillsboro. Mr. EDWARD CHARLES of this town led to the altar Miss SARAH daughter of Mr. John Taylor, late of Milton, N. C. Rev. Mr. Smith the young pastor of the church, officiated, and having been lately ordained this was the first time he had ever performed this beautiful and solemn ceremony which was very impressive, and reflected on him great credit. Though the bride wore no precious jewels, nor costly fabrics yet, in that case, "beauty unadorned was adorned the most," and modesty and dependence supplied everything. We predict for the young couple—both of whom are pious, we believe—a future of industry and conjugal bliss.

On the evening of the 21st inst, at the bride's father in Richmond county, Jas. L. Cooley of Laurinburg, N. C. to Miss Fannie E. Johnson, daughter of Mr. Archie Johnson.

Died of Consumption. Near Milton, N. C., in Caswell county, on the 25th inst, Miss SALLIE E. McCANN, daughter of Matilda McCann.

RALEIGH.

(From our own Correspondent.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 25th, 1871. Col. Withers and Dave Settle arrived here Tuesday night of last week and both are in their places and doing good work. Settle for old Rockingham and Withers for Caswell. We count on Withers to put that "Milton Bridge" matter on foot before the legislature. He will run it through if it can be run. If the people of Milton are in earnest about this move let them correspond with their representatives.

A statute ought to be made giving the Governor the right to commute as well as pardon criminals sentenced to death by law.

Our usually level-headed senator, John W. Graham, Esq., (who works with admirable industry in the legislature,) must keep his eyes skinned on that little jewel called consistency, or some fellow might get him on the hip. He got after Gov. Caldwell the other day about the lease of the N. C. Rail Road, (and it was the best thing ever done for the working people) when it was leased by Directors appointed by Holden and not by Caldwell, who had no hand in the lease. But herein lies the kernel of our senator's inconsistency: He attributed the "long session" of '69 to the "want of Parliamentary knowledge of the presiding officer." Now, the "presiding officer" was Gov. Caldwell, and you will remember that at the closing of that session, our senator (and always) polite senator, offered the following resolution—

"Resolved: That the thanks of this Senate be extended to the Hon. Tod R. Caldwell, Pres't. of the Senate for the dignity, impartiality, and ability, with which he has presided over its deliberations."

Now was Major Graham wrong then or right now? We care nothing about it. As for Gov. Tod Caldwell, three shakes of his hand is as much as we know of him, and a fig for his or any other man's friendship who don't choose of themselves to give it. We just want to fight it out so long as we live on the square, and we'll do it. Let justice be done if the heavens fall.

And now as regards these kuklux memorials. They are no doubt gotten up by the radical party for capital. The Legislature should treat them with silent contempt. Let them throw all such behind them and go on to business.

Mr. Strudwick of our place made a severe speech denouncing the authors of such resolutions in no very polite and unoffending language and we don't know but what we should have done the same thing had we put ourselves in his place and been innocent of the charges. Strudwick takes a good stand here with the members and has a great deal of influence in the House. His mind is like his body stout and unyielding but withal he carries a manly heart and we are pleased to see him working in the van of the new era politicians. He has introduced a resolution to repudiate—a little rash—may be—and we think it would be better to compromise. Pay it all, we can't. But we had best try with it at present than throw it in the fire. It's a debatable question though.

A memorial was read yesterday from some citizens of New Hanover county praying to expel Ham Jones the senator from Mecklenburg for being a kuklux. It excited much talk and windy gestulation from a few members. Of course it was voted down. Jones was cool. Fleming, the senator from the West made a zealous speech to-day wanting the vacancy of United States Senator declared right off by twelve o'clock. It was then while he was speaking and gestulating with his forefinger half past eleven. We noticed these Honorable fellows whenever they are making their ten strike speeches meet of their fellows are either scratching away on letters home to their sweethearts and wives or have a handful of peanuts under their jaws a cracking. This ain't right.

Our Raleigh correspondent left out a page of his manuscript that comes in above where we insert stars (*). He will please be a little more careful in future, as it bothers the printer.

MILTON.

WILKERSON'S WAREHOUSE.

See the advertisement of this newly built Warehouse in Milton. We hear that Tobacco is pouring in to this Warehouse and that its customers are all highly pleased with the prices they get and the clever treatment of the proprietors. The number of buyers in the Milton market we learn has been lately increased and will continue to grow larger in proportion to the demand.

This Warehouse has employed Mr. TRUE, of Person, the soldier who gave both of his arms in the late war to the "lost cause," as canvassing Agent, and the planters of Person will remember Wilker-son's kindness for remembering the poor no-armed soldier left to get along in this cold and selfish world as best he can.

Flat River still ahead.

Flat River is never behind in anything, she excels in pretty ladies, handsome men, fine coal cured tobacco, big turnips, and last though not least in the art of matrimony; there being in the last week not less than six blushing maidens from the ages fourteen to thirty six, led to the hy- menaeal altar by as many handsome gentlemen from the ages of nineteen to fifty. This goes to show that we live in a progressive age, and that Flat River is ahead of time.

The progress of education is also going ahead in our vicinity, and it will not be long before the hammer can be heard for miles around, nailing shingles on the roof of Mangum's Male Academy. At the same place is also to be erected one among the finest country Methodist churches in the State.

MARRIED.

On the morning of the 22nd, Dec. Mangum to Elve Mangum, by A. Mangum, also on same evening, Geo. Green of Wake to Miss Dide Southerland, by Rev. John Tillett.

On the morning of 23d, Rufus Peed to Miss Martha Bowling, by A. Mangum.

On Sunday morning Jack Strayhorn to Miss Bettie Blalock.

On Sunday morning Hooker Watson to Miss Sallie Corning.

On Sunday morning Nelson Baulding to Miss Candace Jones.

On 23rd F. M. Terry to Miss Bettie Gar- rard, by Rev. Mr. Moore.

AT HOME, Nov. 25th, 1871.

Editors Recorder: Gents:—I visited your old town this week and found everything up and moving like business; quite a Tobacco market; four Warehouses all selling the weed, and only one thing marred the pleasure of my visit, and that was being annoyed by street drummers lying about the best Warehouse. Please say to the Warehouse men of Milton, if they have any respect for themselves or their market, to stop these street drummers. To a nervous man it's awful the way they attack you at the bridge. I have concluded, with many others that our next trip will be after drumming has ceased.

MILTON, N. C. Nov. 24th, 1871.

Thomas Evans—I have known you to allude to good Hotels that you have stopped at, but allow me to say to you that you nor I, until lately, ever stopped at a good one. I left Hillsboro, N. C., yesterday after a few days stay at the Hotel recently opened there by Dr. JOHN SMITH. I have travelled over 25 of these United States, Upper and Lower Canada, and I can truthfully say that I have never been at such a good House as the "SMITH House, at Reidsville: In the first place the Rooms are large and clean—seasoned wood for fire—the Beds and Bed-clothing clean—the Towels clean and new—Table Cloths all right, and the Apple Brandy from Patrick, Virginia—O pray, Overseer! not pummy but Cider Brandy—and John, the servant, (a polite colored gentleman raised by Mrs. Judge Settle). The cooking is under the immediate supervision of Mrs. SMITH, a sister-in-law of Dr. Smith, and her very accomplished daughter, Miss SALLIE. And when I say the brandy and eating are good, you can safely say to the travelling community that they are good, for you and the Senior will testify that I am a judge of both. You owe it to the travelling community to publish this. Yours, JOHN E. WOODKO.

Our old friend is a splendid judge of good eating and drinking, but our Foreman (who is also a capital judge of good things,) says he'll be ding'd if Cheek's Apple Brandy (made by Curtis, of Alamance,) to be had at the "Gem Saloon" in this town, can be beaten by the "State of Patrick" or any other man. See his adv.]

MARK TWAIN ON THE SITUATION.

Mark is willing to run as a Candidate for the Presidency and has lately made some flaming speeches in the West, from one of which we call the following:
You admit the existence of fraud, rascality, villany, in every shape and form in the administration of our government. You all groan beneath the inflictions of wrongs, oppression and outrages of every conceivable character. I ask you, in the language of the Roman Senator, Caius Metellus, WHEN SHALL THESE CALAMITIES CEASE?
Does Grant tell us? Can you imagine? Think, and tell me what, or where, is the limit of your patience and endurance. Can you fix in your mind when you will cease to bear and forbear? Or will it require some startling event such as the violation of Lucretia by Tarquin to fire and arouse the latent retributive justice of an outraged people? [Sensation.] Have the people become so utilitarian and material as to be lost to all exalted thought and aspiration? Shall we wait supinely until Prince Fred Grant, or some one of our royal house of Deat, shall forcibly outrage and violate the chastity of Astor's daughter, some of our wives and sisters [sensation] before we shall combine in the power and dignity of our manhood, and with one concentrated, engulfing wave of the great people, wash off this cancerous, putrid sore, which is now sloughing on the body politic. [Loud cheer.]

The storm is passing—hail the sun—The Rainbow circles all the sky, Man's God-like race is not yet run—Virtue decrees that vice must die—Hallelujah! Smash the Rings! Wake up people! Death to Kings! [Cheers.]

Down with all this wire working, circumlocution of politics; once more to the front with honest integrity, capacity and loyalty to the people [applause.] who alone are the source of power. Think for yourselves—confide in one who has never violated a single confidence. Should I fail to cleanse the Augean stables, impeach me, hurl me out of place and cover my head with the indignation, disgrace and anathemas of an infuriated, deceived and outraged people. [Loud and enthusiastic cheers.]

Go it Mark! we are with you.

A POLITICAL EDITOR.

We have determined to employ some leading gentleman as political editor of the North Carolinian, at a salary to command the best talent of the State, and to the end that a gentleman may be secured who will best reflect the sentiments and most ably and efficiently maintain and defend the principles of the party. We shall leave it to leading Democrats, in and out of the Legislature, to suggest the name of a gentleman for the place.

Never before in the history of the country did the people of North Carolina so much require the services of the ablest political writers at their capital; and from now until the Presidential election of '72, we shall bestow upon the Carolinian the best available political talent of the State. Raleigh Carolinian 26th inst.

THE INDIANA TRAGEDY.

Lynching of the Murderers.

A telegram from Louisville gives further particulars in connection with the hanging of the three negro murderers of the Park family, by a mob of citizens. At a late hour of 2 o'clock Friday morning, the mob, numbering about fifty men, on horseback and on foot, on entering Charleston, broke open the blacksmith shop and supplied themselves with sledge hammers, chisels, &c., and then proceeded to the jail where, with drawn pistols, they demanded the keys of the jail.

He stated that the keys of the jail had been given to the sheriff of the county, whereupon he was sent, under the escort of a guard, to the sheriff to get them. The sheriff informed them that the keys were in Jeffersonville. The order was then given to break down the doors of the jail; and with chisels, sledge hammers and crowbars the mob broke down three ponderous iron doors, and took out Taylor and Davis. They then went to the upper rooms of the jail in search of Johnson, when the sheriff, to save jail from total ruin, gave up the keys, and they took Johnson.

Placing ropes around the neck of the three negroes, they closed the jail and ordered the persons there, about twelve in number, to remain on guard, as they were determined not to be interfered with by alarming the village. Starting back on the same road, they had come double quick to a place known as Gipsy Camp, about one mile and a half from the town, they strung the three murderers upon separate trees. At two minutes to three o'clock their leader, addressed the mob: "Our work is done until we are called" together again. Say nothing. Remember the password: "Justice" to all. The crowd then quietly dispersed.

The whole affair was done with military precision. Not a word was spoken except to command order, or to keep some of the bystanders quiet who attempted to give an alarm. So far as is known there was not a man absent from his home anywhere in the neighborhood and while there is no doubt of the guilt of the negroes, there is still a general feeling of regret that the course of the law has been frustrated.

The coroner at noon sent out a wagon for the dead bodies and has held an inquest, but has gained no information as to who the rob were. The jail was damaged by the mob to the extent of nearly $500.

LADIES AND MISSES FURS.
Handsomely cheap, &c., &c.
And here permit me to say, that I have stored up pairs of expensive building, remodeling and fixing up a large and handsome store so as to recommence my numerous friends and customers, if representing goods as they are, and selling goods at inside prices, will be any inducement to buyers, appreciate bargains, and if I don't travel the benefactor's road, I will travel the benefactor's road. I have the finest, second-class or defective goods to offer you. My goods are new and bought within the last few days.
Don't forget to come to CREECH'S at his old stand with new goods on.

PICOT'S
VIRGINIA WORM KILLER

The Best, Safest and most Pleasant Dy for WORMS ever discovered.
Tried by Thousands and approved.
CHILDREN CRY FOR IT.
Most of diseases from which children are afflicted, are caused by the presence of body; and if they are neglected they produce derangement of the system and give rise to serious affections.
This valuable and well known preparation recommenced with the greatest confidence experience and test of years, having proved to be one of the best and most reliable Vermifuge in use. It has a great advantage over most of the kind, as it is readily taken by children being mild & pleasant to the taste, and safe, certain in its effects. The genuine article is prepared only by

BERNARD & McPHAIL, Detroit, corner Main and 7th streets, Richmond, Va.
Read the following from distinguished physicians:
"Being familiar with 'Picot's Virginia Worm Killer,' and the mode of preparing it, we can confidently recommend it as a pleasant, safe and reliable Vermifuge for children troubled with Worms."
John Dove, M. D., Prof. D. H. Tucker, M. D., E. M. Sealrook, M. D., John F. Jackson, M. D., F. Richards, D. D., L. E. Waring, M. D., Hattersville, New Kent County, Va.
Oct. 6, 1871.

Dear Sir: It gives me much pleasure to my testimony in behalf of your medicine Vermifuge, known as the Virginia Worm Killer, which I have extensively used in a large practice, and with the most gratifying results. Knowing its composition, I can recommend it with confidence, as a safe and reliable Vermifuge, and ferable to any now extant, and few likely to be attended with unfavorable results. Admiring according to directions, it may be given to children of all ages, and should be a valuable medicine in every household. Yours truly, A. A. SLATER, M. D.

From Parents who have used it for years:
We have used Picot's Virginia Worm Killer for a long time in our families, and have never known it to fail.
It is known, Wm Phillips, H. Bull, C. H.
Grader, Mrs. K. Riddick, Thomas Wm. M.
Peters, Lewisburg, Va.; and hundreds of others.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.
Perhaps no medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any infused so universally and so successfully in every country and among all classes, as this little, but effective, purgative Pill.
The obvious reason is, that it is a more effective and more actual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them of all constipation, and all know that what it does is always that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands of witnesses of the efficacy of their remarkable of the following complaints, but these are known in every neighborhood, and we need not multiply them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coated exterior makes them very fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action. They remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
Many directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure—
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Flatulency, Acid, Lassitude and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore the system.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Dropsy, &c., they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the disordered action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhoea, but one small dose is generally required to restore the action of the bowels, and the system.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pain-ing of the Heart, Pain in the side, Back and Limbs, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the disordered action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of drastic purgation.
For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by
